WEST POINT.

The Great Military School of the United States.

West Point Letter to New York Post.

"Oh! but I say this is a beastly grind, you know. It is a brief but correct summary of the impression made upon the mind of my friend, a clergyman of the church of England, whom I had brought to West Point for the purpose of showing him how we Americans train a corps of army officers.

To him the idea of men being confined so closely to routine work as to allow but a bare half hour out of each day for recreation was a monstrous thing.

"But do you mean to say that these cadets have no sport?"

"No; no organized sport, corresponding to boating, foot-ball or base-ball at colleges."

"Well, said the Englishman gravely, 'our English cadets would think them selves hardly used if they were debarred their regular sport every day, and I think that here in the army you would find more pleasure in your life and enjoy the army better if a liberal dose of recreation were thrown into your cadet course.'

At an American college you will find perhaps one man in ten who takes systematic exercise, and I fear I am saying too much when I say that at Yale, where boasting enthusiasm can certainly be said to exist, besides half a dozen six-oared crews who train for races, there are scarcely fifty students probably who row regularly out of ten hundred and thirty-nine between the ages of sixteen and twenty-five years. Take base ball, foot ball, horse-back riding or walking, and there is a still greater falling off. The reason is that where in England the heads of the faculty understand the value of a strong physical frame to a man starting in life, and foster manly sports as a natural recreation; with us the fact that a man takes to exercise is looked upon as something out of the ordinary run, and consequently reprehensible. It is a man with us gets low in his standing the cause is immediately sought in athletic pursuits. He is worn I give up boating, base ball or whatever recreation he may seek for his health. To see a tutor rowing a shell would excite wonder at an American college, and a rowing crew, when a priest of the English church took off his 'clerical' rolled up his sleeves and beat the West Point officers at lawn-tennis on their own grounds and with their own rackets, you may imagine their amazement and delight. The thought of it is in strong contrast with the habits of the American parson, whose most worldly occupation is driving a buggy six miles to the hour.

But to return to West Point; paradoxical as it sounds, it is the absolute necessity that the cadets should have exercise that forbids them having any recreation time. They rise at six o'clock, breakfast, look over their lessons, and are occupied from eight to one o'clock with drill or recreation. They then receive their military instruction, then get ready for the afternoon drill from half-past four to half-past five o'clock, and then they have just time to get ready for parade, which takes place about six p. m. Immediately after parade they are drummed off to supper, and only after supper do they have an exact half hour absolutely to themselves. Then the drum beats again, and they retire to their rooms and study until half-past nine o'clock, when they turn out the gas and take their only real recreation of the day. They cannot smoke out of their rooms. In strolling about the grounds you never meet those easy groups under the trees that lend such a charm to undergraduate life at Harvard and Yale. No strolls with friends, no entertaining chat in arm, that do so much to cement friendships, no evenings over a pipe or bowl with a round of song. None of these.

Instead, we have precise action, a turn on the heel that suggests a machine at the wheel, an exact carriage and a military bearing carried even into the recreation room.

A West Point cadet, by the way, is something unique. When a visitor makes his appearance every cadet rises and 'fronts,' and you feel as you did when you entered your first freshmen school, where the walls were lined with your tender instructors. The cadet's military carriage is relaxed at a sign from the instructor, and the recreation goes on.

The teaching is undoubtedly the most thorough in the country, if not in the world. The reason will probably be found in the fact that not only are the cadets held to a strict accountability for the work they do over, but in addition to that, a student instructor is also strictly responsible to the professors in charge of their department. This professor of mathematics will have one hour's instruction with his class during the forenoon, and the remainder of the time he devotes to inspecting the work of his assistant professors who are instructing other sections in the same subject. As there are only nine men in a section, it will be readily seen that nobody can escape a keen cross examination during the hour.

The fact that a professor is known to make the rounds of all the section rooms is a guaranty to the cadet that no injustice will be done him by a young instructor, who for any reason may betray partially. The professor is sure to seek an explanation for any great difference between his mark and that on a tutor's book when the same man is under consideration. It is the curse of the marking system of our American colleges that a man is at the mercy of a young tutor who, by his mark book, sits in judgment upon him. While the student is no appeal. Every college man knows how much injustice is done by a few callow instructors who have perhaps forty men to hear at a time, who hear each man perhaps every other day, and must determine his stand by the two or three minutes he is on his feet. There are so many opportunities for the dishonest student to impose on the tutor, and the tutor is so quick to suspect of laziness the man who is too honest to 'pony' or hand in 'sack excuses,' and moreover, the divisions are so large and the examinations so infrequent, that the marking system, in my judgment, is fruitful of evil.

No educational institution in this country has probably so large a teaching force in proportion to the students as West Point. At Yale and Harvard the proportion is about one to ten; at the military academy it is one to five. At Yale a professor has sometimes sixty men in a recreation room; here he has nine. Here the student must learn; there he may. Here he must learn so much and so fast, that he must learn a little less than so much, but may learn a great deal more.

At West Point the marking system is necessary, is wisely managed, and cannot be abused; but in a college the case is different, for there are three times as many men before the tutor as before the West Point instructor.

The marking system again has a very strong tendency to suppress the free communication between the teacher and the taught which is indispensable to the best education. No ordinary man will imperil his standing by exposing his ignorance before his tutor. Many instructors feel this, and invite their scholars to question freely, but the boys are shy. They fear to sow the wind. A good story is told here of one of the best and most popular professors. The cadet who told it is no longer in the corps. He is therefore safe. The professor had frequently urged the cadets to make known their wants to him. 'Only by this means, gentlemen, will you acquire that comprehensive grasp of your subject which it is my endeavor to afford you.'

At last a hand went up, and the delighted professor asked: 'What is it, Mr. Smith?' 'May I ask a question, Professor,' was the reply.

'Certainly—but one minute, Mr. Smith. Let me now direct your attention, gentlemen, to the praiseworthy conduct of Mr. Smith. You are now to witness an illustration of what is excellent in the Socratic teaching. I hope you will not fail in future to follow the good example set by Mr. Smith. Now, Mr. Smith, what is your question?' 'May I shut the door, Professor?'

Dr. Price's reputation has been acquired by candid, honest dealing and years of successful practice.

His practice is not one of experiment, but founded on the laws of Nature, with years of experience and evidence to sustain it, does not tear down, but builds up; makes well; no harsh treatment, no trifling, no flattery. We know the cause and the remedy needed; no guess work, but knowledge gained by years of experience in the treatment of chronic diseases exclusively; no encouragement without a prospect. Candid in our opinions, reasonable in our charges, claim not to know everything, or cure everybody, but do claim to reason and common sense. We invite the sick, no matter what their ailment, to make interrogations and decide for themselves; it will cost nothing as consultation is free. Visits made regularly.

CITY AND COUNTY.

BRIEFLETS.

—Pickle November.
—No meat need apply. Fish day.
—All kinds of fowl are having a fat thing of it now.

—Regular meeting of Olive Branch A. O. U. W. tonight.
—Mr. and Mrs. John B. Carle returned from their wedding trip last evening.
—The Guards are putting in their best work every night, making ready to show up before Grant in Chicago.

—To-night the Temperance Band give another dance at Young America hall. These dances are full of fun, and the purpose is a good one—to get new uniforms.
—Ezra Goodrich, of Milton, is reported as having met with an accident at Utica, Dane county. A load of hay tipped over, throwing him to the ground and spraining his ankle.

—Next Sunday evening at Court Street church there is to be a union service in the interests of the Rock County Bible Society, it being of the same nature as that held a year ago.

—The old man Malone, who was drunk a few days ago, and who was let loose on promising to be good, was again in the Police Court this morning and went to jail for five days.

—We are in receipt of a new song by J. H. Delaney, it being a "Welcome Home" for General Grant. It strikes a popular vein and will meet with a ready sale. Lee & Walker, of Philadelphia are the publishers.

—Dr. Sutherland's little boy, who was so badly injured yesterday by being thrown from a buggy, is still in a serious condition, there being evidences of brain trouble. He is somewhat better though than last evening.

—H. D. Bliss, of Kenosha, is in the city to-day looking over the Jeffris house with the view of deciding whether he will be its landlord or not. Mr. Bliss is an experienced hotel man, and was formerly proprietor of the Grant house in Kenosha.

—The Knights of Pythias are arranging for a big banquet and ball at the Myers house, in the early part of next month, the exact date not being wholly determined. The affair is to be of high order, and will prove one of the most notable society events of the season.

—Next Sunday Rev. Mr. Sewell is to exchange with Rev. Dr. Benson, pastor of the Methodist church at Madison. Dr. Benson has the reputation of being a fine pulpit orator, and the First Methodist church will draw an even larger crowd than usual next Sunday morning.

—Wm. J. Farrell, of Harmony, complained before Justice Brooks that Frank Braden, of Footville, has obtained a horse under false pretenses. The papers were served and the parties appeared, but the case was adjourned until the 15th. The trouble grows out of a horse trade.

—One of the young men who attended the closing dance of the Catholic Fair took off his soft hat and put it in the pocket of a friend's overcoat, which was duly deposited in the check room. When he started to go home he found that his friend had left, and thoughtlessly taken overcoat and hat together. He didn't enjoy the walk home quite as well as though he had his head covered, and hereafter he says he will check his own wardrobe.

—Last night, was presented at the Opera house, a military play entitled "Union Scouts." The play is an old one, but has some merit to it, and the characters were well sustained, for amateurs. Miss Josie Turk, of Milwaukee, was very good indeed in the leading part of Mary Meriton. She showed marked talent. Louis Fierce took the part of Tom Markham, and did fairly. The audience was very small, and financially it was a good deal of a failure.

—J. W. Bates has put a microphone on the line connecting with Dr. Palmer's office. By aid of this microphone a person in Dr. Palmer's office can hear distinctly almost every sound in the drug store. The rattling of a bunch of keys, the shutting of the door, drumming with fingers on the show case, whispers, whistles, even the ticking of a clock, can be heard plainly in Dr. Palmer's office. It is a scientific wonder, and greatly facilitates telephonic communication.

—In another column will be noticed the picture of a good looking man, well dressed, and wearing a contented and even "old boy" look. We don't know his name, and we don't care if we don't, but it is plain to be seen what is the reason of his good looks and happy face. He has got rigged out at Smith & Son's clothing store, and has a right to be happy. Their stock of overcoats is large enough, and embraces enough sizes and styles to make everybody as happy and comfortable as that man seems to be, and as for prices—go and see for yourself.

—TRAVELERS, stop at the ASTER HOUSE NEW YORK.

THE WEATHER.

REPORTED BY PRENTICE & EVENSON, DRUGGISTS.
The thermometer at 6 o'clock last night stood at 41 degrees above; at 1 o'clock a. m., to-day at 50 degrees above, at 7 o'clock a. m., to-day, at 50 degrees above, and at 1 o'clock p. m. at 57 degrees above. Cloudy and misty.

One year ago to-day at 7 o'clock a. m. the thermometer stood at 28 degrees above, and at 2 o'clock p. m. at 46 degrees above.

The indications to-day are, for the lake region, warmer southeast to southwest winds, falling barometer, partly cloudy weather, and in the northern portions light rain.

CULTIVATING THE VOICE.

For the benefit of some young ladies who would like to enter a class for the cultivation of the voice and reading at night, Miss Helen R. Porter will organize a new class on Saturday of this week, at 3 o'clock p. m. No more than eight will be allowed in a class, if there are more the class will be divided. A new class will be organized for the little folks at four o'clock.

CUPID'S CRIMES.

There was a happy wedding party at the residence of Mrs. Norris, last Wednesday evening, the contracting parties being Mr. Charles Marshall and Miss Emma Hunter. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Green Harrison, in the presence of a large number of friends. Last evening a reception was given to the newly wedded ones at the residence of Harry Anderson. Full arrangements were made for a jolly good time, and about seventy guests were present, including friends from Milton, Madison, Beloit, Oconomowoc and Stoughton. The folding doors were thrown wide open, the stoves were taken out, the whole house placed at the disposal of the company, and hospitality reigned supreme. The first part of the evening was devoted to greeting the happy twain. The bride was dressed in a pale silk, cut on train, and was elaborately dressed. The groom wore the usual dress suit, and both were the recipients of many hearty congratulations and well-wishes. There was vocal and instrumental music, and at the proper time refreshments were served. Shortell, the caterer, had charge, and provided a really elegant supper. Those who delighted in the merry dance were then given a chance. Harry Anderson's orchestra furnished excellent music. Many improved this chance, and the musical whirl was kept up until the early hours of morning. Those who participated pronounced the affair a big success, and all say they had a "right good time." Mr. and Mrs. Marshall will leave to-morrow for a trip to the East.

Mrs. VERA GUELMANN, aged 50 years, living in Rochester, N. Y., Rheumatism in legs, could not walk. Used one bottle of Dr. JACOB'S OIL, and felt, as she asserts, like new-born.

THE RIFLES NEW ARMOY.

The Bower City Rifles have made arrangements by which they have taken possession of Ehle's hall and the adjacent rooms, and they are to use the same for headquarters and an armory. The hall proper is about 23 feet by 70 feet, and proves an excellent room for drilling. The Rifles put it to a practical test last night, and were entirely satisfied with the result. It is as large as any place that could be secured, and is attractive and convenient. There are also in connection with the hall a large reception room, nicely furnished, another room where the arms and munitions of war can be kept, and which can also be used as a lounging room. There are besides these, dressing rooms, and a storage room, so there is nothing lacking. A more pleasing and convenient armory cannot be found in the State. The Rifles now have facilities not only for military purposes but also for giving dances, holding entertainments, etc., so that they need not go away from home to entertain their friends. The Rifles have adopted a policy of moving slowly and surely, and each move is for the better. This is one, and they have reason to congratulate themselves on getting such a place and such conveniences.

COURT CRUMBS.

Thus far there has been but little of public interest in the Circuit Court. The case of The First National Bank vs. Pierce, was on trial yesterday and was given to the jury about 3 o'clock. They did not agree until evening, when they returned a verdict giving plaintiff amount claimed on the note.

The case of Ehringer vs. Sheridan was non-suited.

The case of Osgood vs. March, was on trial yesterday afternoon and was given to the jury about 3 o'clock. They did not agree until evening, when they returned a verdict giving plaintiff amount claimed on the note.

To-day the case of Isaiah Wallis vs. Alexander McLellan was on trial it being a suit for damages for alleged malicious prosecution.

THE PHOENIX.

Milton Nobles and his dramatic company are again to visit Janesville, and next Wednesday evening will present at the Opera house the far-famed drama "The Phoenix," which is one of the most thrilling ever presented on the stage. The play was presented here some time ago, but those who saw it then are most anxious to see it again, and have their friends see it. There will be no trouble about getting a full house, as many have regretted that they did not see it when it was presented here before. The New York Evening Telegram says:

"The Phoenix" is a drama that not only takes with the masses, but is full of interest to those who are habituated to every phase of the drama. It abounds with striking situations, and presents a potent series of pictures of the under life of the metropolis. The role of the hero, who is a Bohemian and detective, is admirably adapted to Mr. Nobles, and brings out his strong points as an eccentric character actor.

THE TIRESOME TRAMP.

Jeffrey is still walking at Apollo hall, and in spite of reverses has succeeded in making 195 miles at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The record is not a very speedy one, but his grit is good and he still stays by, having been at work since Monday morning. To-night the silver cup is to be contested for by amateurs on a distance of ten miles. The attendance is very slim, there seeming to be little interest taken. Evenings there are more in, and last evening there were more ladies than men.

TIT FOR TAT.

To the Editor.
The little article signed by Citizen, in your last evening's paper, has some excellent suggestions. There is an old adage that "the fault is in the finder," and quite likely it may prove so in this case. Travelling salesmen often remark that goods, especially dry goods, are sold at higher prices in this place than in almost any other in this part of the country. I hope the Corn Exchange and its friends will follow the suggestion of Citizen, and appoint a committee of investigation to compare the prices they have paid here with those at which the same quality of goods can be bought at other points, and make a report thereon. Merchants cannot object to this, because the present is a rising market. They have given the challenge, and the Corn Exchange should accept it. Let us have that committee and its report. It will be a good thing for the people, especially the farmers. CITIZEN N. 2.

Among the Useful Toilet Articles

We notice a much liked preparation for the hair, possessed of properties so remarkable that no one who cares to own a clean and healthy scalp with beautiful hair should pass it untried. Its properties are cleansing, invigorating and healing, and after a few applications the hair ceases to fall, dandruff and humors disappear, and the hair grows clean, soft and silky. It keeps the head cool and comfortable and gradually restores the hair, if gray or faded, to the natural and life like color, beautiful to look upon. It is Parker's Hair Balsam that has won such popular appreciation by its many excellent and healthful properties. Sold in large bottles at only 50 cents, and $1.00, by all first class druggists.

QUICK FORTUNES IN STOCKS.

Vast sums of money are made in quick turns of stocks in Wall Street. Business has never been more successful. By the new combination plan, large and small investments (from $25 to $10,000) are combined in one vast sum, and operated by the most skillful experience, securing immense power in the stock market and gaining splendid profits. Thousands of customers are thus united in one concurrent enterprise, and receive their profits monthly. An Indiana country merchant made $17,992.41 in four operations. A Texas cattle dealer made $32,615.94 in two combinations; a St. Louis shipping merchant made $17,876.21 in less than six months, all through the combination plan of Messrs Lawrence & Co., which has realized the grandest successes in the history of the stock market. Their new circular, with "unerring rules for success," and complete explanations how to make money in stocks, mailed by Messrs Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, New York City.

DOES YOUR BUSINESS PAY?

Handsomely profits from small and large investments, of from $25 to $25,000 in the new Mutual Capitalization System is a matter of daily occurrence in Wall Street. The success of this improved method is attracting universal attention: it enables any one to operate successfully and secure to each participant all the advantages of unlimited capital on large investments, while profits are divided pro rata among shareholders every month. Over $1,680,332 was netted in one capitalization for each of 27 business men who furnished $2,000 respectively. A cotton manufacturer of Lowell, Mass., made $801.86 by investing $100 in a capitalization, last month. New Circular, "Rules for Success," with invaluable information to all investors, mailed free. All kinds of bonds and stocks bought and sold by ADAMS, BROWN & Co., Bankers and Brokers, 26 and 28 Broad street, New York. oct7daw2w.

without its bottle of SOZODON. As a month wash it is most satisfactory; as a toilet article it is ur, and its regular use from early youth to old age, would tend to secure and maintain beautiful and healthy teeth. It is also most economical, as a few drops upon the brush is all that is needed for efficacy and pleasure.

A few drops of SPALDING'S GLUE on a brush, properly applied, holds like a vice. nov3daw1w.

TURKEYS!

The undersigned announces to the Poultry growers of Rock and adjoining counties, that they are now in the field again, and shall buy all the prime fat offered them during the Poultry season. Turkeys taken either alive or dressed. We shall at all times pay the highest price in cash that the market will afford.

Turkeys, Geese and Ducks

Everybody can find us at our old quarters, No. 3 Main Street, where we hope to see all of our old customers, and lots of new ones.

Yours Respectfully,
J. W. HAWES, nov12daw1w.

MISCELLANEOUS.

FURNITURE!

Still Down at Bottom Prices

Notwithstanding the recent advance in all kinds of Furniture, we are determined to keep prices as heretofore. Having kept posted as to the doings of the recent Convention of Furniture Manufacturers, we took advantage of the market and purchased 100 dozen Chairs, about four car loads, at the old prices with usual discounts. That's good news for persons wishing to purchase such goods. All goods at lowest prices. Parlor and Chamber Furniture the largest stock that was ever brought to this city. Our trade has never been better than last month. For five years past things have been booming with us. No use going to Chicago for Chamber Sets; we can beat them; we had it finely illustrated here to-day. No cheap goods here, but good goods cheap. No green lumber. If things are not as we tell you, we are here and you can see us; we are going to stay. Call and look over our stock.

UNDER TAKING!

Any work in the undertaking line we will do at very reasonable rates. Every facility for preserving the dead. Fourteen years experience. Satisfaction guaranteed.
